CITY MANAGER SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

Fire-Rescue Department seeks to apply for grant funding from the Fireman's Fund Heritage Program, in order to develop the Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) Program in San Diego. CERT is a national program, supported by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, Emergency Management Institute and the National Fire Academy.

CERT assists communities to prepare for effective response to disasters or significant emergency incidents via training and pre-planning. The damage caused by large scale fires, earthquakes, flooding or acts of terrorism can severely restrict and overwhelm emergency response resources, communications, transportation and utilities, leaving neighborhoods and individual residents cut off from outside support. For the initial period following such an event (possibly 72 hours), individuals, households, and neighborhoods may need to rely on their own resources for food, water, first aid, and shelter. CERT trains individuals to meet those emergency needs, via community-based preparedness planning. Fire-Rescue Department will provide local community representatives with training in the basic skills relevant to emergency preparedness. These individuals will form CERT teams, which will select team leaders. The goal of this effort is to equip local communities with the skills required to cope with the anticipated disruptions and hazards that arise from significant emergency incidents. Teamwork, practice, and training via CERT will enable local residents to protect themselves and their communities.

FISCAL IMPACT:

Up to $250,000 in FY 2004 would be available from this grant if it is awarded to San Diego Fire Rescue. There is no matching requirement and no impact to the General Fund.
